EXPO newsmakers: Locus launches new services

Locus Telecommunications reports the national launch of CDMA prepaid wireless services: VIVA Prepaid Wireless and Locus Platinum. According to Locus, these new services offer low weekday and night/weekend rates as low as 9 cents per minute. Service plans also are bundled with free international long distance to 50+ countries. All subscribers receive free in-network roaming, free long distance anywhere in the United States and live multilingual customer service with 24-hour automated assistance. Plus, these services are provided on what many industry analysts view as the nation's most reliable network.

In other news, Locus Telecommunications Inc. recently signed up with a large national GSM service provider and plans to report the details of this new partnership at the Intele-CardExpo, Sept. 21-23, 2004. According to Locus, the new service is expected to include free international long distance to 50+ preselected countries, discounted text messaging, special night and weekend programs, and live multilingual customer service with 24-hour automated assistance. See them at booth #210.
